State of Massachusetts Produces Best of Athletic Coaches

New England Can Boast of the Top Notch Trainers of Athletes of All Sports.

As Virginia is known as the mother of Presidents, Massachusetts may be rightfully termed the mother of athletic mentors. The track and fele destinies of more than 35,000 collegians have hinged upon the acts of this giant trust.

Another 15,000 or more members of amateur clubs scattered throughout the country look for their physical betterment to offsprings of the giant organization that has existed for almost a half century without papers of incorporation or anything more hind. incorporation or anything more bind-ing than the announcement. "He's one of us."

In a quiet little section of the fa-mous Bay State some forty-five years ago was born this trust. It is still growing. It's prestige has been felt from Maine to California, and through its agents its power has been felt in the Olympic games and other interna-tional affairs. tional affairs.

The originator of the giant organ-The originator of the giant organization was none other than the famous Mike Murphy, the greatest athletic trainer of all time. Mike in those days was known as Stocky. He was a sprinter of no mean ability, but because of his wonderful brain, was always looked upon as the leader among the athletes of those days.

Mike, up to the time of his death in 1914, was the caar of the trust. Be-fore an applicant for any job of any importance at any of the various col-lege and athletic clubs of the country would be accepted as trainer he would invariably be subjected to the scrutiny of Mike Murphy.

If he professed allegiance to that eastern section of the Bay State situated about forty-five miles from the Hub, he would find his task a much uated about forty-five miles from the Hub, he would find his task a much easier one.

In the late seventies and early eightles New England was the home of the professional athlete. More real champs were uncovered in that section than anywhere in the country. England's best records were smashed to smithersens by the sensational performances of the stars from the Plymouth Rock States.

The Natick Hook and Ladder Company, which included on its roster Mike Murphy, Johnny Mack, Keene Fitspatrick, Pooch Donovan, Sid Peet, Steve Farrell, and Piper Donovan, comprised the world's championship orsanization. From it Murphy went to Yale and Pennsylvania, Pooch Donovan to Yale and then to Harvard, Keene Fitspatrick to Michigan and then to Princeton, Sid Pete, to Andover, and Steve Farrell to Ohio State and then Michigan. Altrock's "Almosts" Will Play Georgetown Nine

While Clark Griffith's Nationare battling Pat Moran's at American League Phillies Park, Nick Altrock will be piloting his crew of "Almosts" against the Georgetown University nine on the Hilltop dia-mond. The Blue and Gray collegians have had two dates with the Nationals and on both occa-sions the weather man has butted in and caused a postpone-

Graduate Manager Charlie Cox made arrangements with Manager Griffith for this contest last night. Just who will pitch for the Altrock bunch is not known, but Coach John O'Reilly will send his big right hander, Murray, against the professionals. Providing the weather is a bit warmer the Old Fox will pit Walter Johnson against Moran's one best bet, Alexander, in the game at the park, but if the cool breeze keeps blowing either Harper or Boehling will face McQuillan for the Quakers.

Thirty-six of the forty-three States number of tournaments held under in with associations affiliated with the Interstate Association for the Encouragement of trap shooting have planned their annual championship tournament and it is expected that the tardy members will make known their dates quickly.

The states number of tournaments held under insurance in the supervision last year was 333. This, of course, does not include club tournaments, of which there are the will be at least 1,000 trapshooting competitions of various sizes and quickly.

Bull Squash Champion.

Bull Squash Champion.

New York. April 9.—Charles M. Bull, ir., won the championship of the Squash Club yesterday afternoon, when he defeated W. H. van der Poel in a closely contested match. Bull won the first and second games by the same score, 15-12, and then van der Poel nipped off an early victory for Bull by defeating his rival in the success in winning the intercollegiate third game at 15-6. He maintained his speedy play in the fourth game, but Bull eventually won at 17-15.

Basketball Major Sport.

Philadelphia. Pa., April 9.—Hereafter basketball will be ranked as a major sport at the University of Pennsylvania and all participants in the intercollegiate series will be awarded the varsity letter.

This action was indosed by the faculty today as a result of the Quakers' but the game at 15-6. He maintained his speedy play in the fourth game, but Bull eventually won at 17-15.
